

Prodigy Growth Strategy

Why Prodigy Growth Strategy May Not Be Right For You

- Our investment style and process is significantly different from our peers and may not be suited to investors who are looking for a buy and hold strategy
- There will be times when our processes may not work and during this period of time we may underperform
- While we do not levy any entry / exit loads and we do not have any lock-in, we expect clients to be invested with us for a minimum of 5 years for the strategy to perform to its potential and ride out any patches as mentioned above
- Our portfolio turnover is on the higher side given our extreme focus on risk management (of underperforming / loss making positions)
- In the past we have been significantly overweight in a single sector (sometimes above 50% exposure) and this may happen in the future too
- There have been times in the past when our exposure to small-cap stocks has exceeded 50% of the corpus. This may happen in the future too. Small-cap stocks are less liquid than their large counterparts and such a big exposure increases the liquidity risk
- Our past returns are unlikely to be repeated in the future

The Product

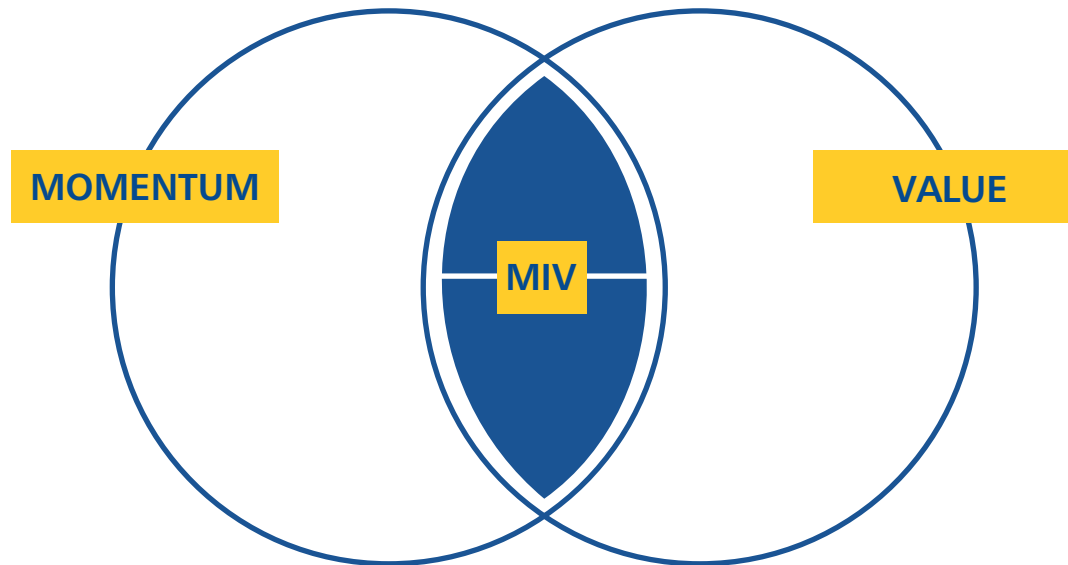

- Prodigy Growth Strategy seeks to generate long term capital by investing in under-researched and/or undervalued growth stocks which are in a secular uptrend
- The strategy will also invest in unique businesses, which are likely to enter a phase of accelerated growth/at an inflection point in their economic life cycle
- The strategy is sector and market cap agnostic. This is an outcome of our process oriented approach (Reverse Research). However, every holding should have sufficient liquidity and wear a badge of quality
- Focus on early alignment with new market leadership. This may demand dramatic pivoting of portfolio allocation, both, from a sectoral perspective as well as a market-cap perspective

*Markets climb
a wall of worry and fall on a ray of hope*

Our Strategy

Drawing from the best of both disciplines

MIV = Momentum In Value

The greatest risk in life, is not taking enough intelligent risk

Momentum Strategy

RR REVERSE RESEARCH

- An unconventional approach to technical analysis
- RR uses proprietary indicators to signal formation of long term trends in scrips and/or sectors
- The proprietary indicator extracts the intrinsic strength (or weakness) of an individual scrip & suppresses the market noise
- RR works on the principle that it is necessary to accommodate what stock prices are telling us at every point in time and be aligned to long term trends
- 'Reversion to Mean' risk parameters established to capture profits and prevent investment in overheated situations
- Understanding key support and resistance levels is important

*Trends
monetize
fundamentals*

Fundamental Strategy

- Do fundamental research and analysis on identified scrips to determine reason for intrinsic strength. This is done with a focus on management quality, balance sheet strength and capital productivity (ROI/ROE)
- Filter in well managed businesses that:
 - o Are likely to display maximum growth and where valuations are cheap relative to growth (under owned relative to growth potential)
 - o Create or take advantage of structural change (as opposed to cyclical change)
 - o Have strong re-rating triggers (P/E expansion headroom)

GARP Approach

*Growth At a Reasonable
Price*

Portfolio Construction

- Make an initial allocation between 2% - 3% of corpus if valuation parameters are satisfied. Allocation is also dependant on business size, opportunity, liquidity and market condition/situation
- Increase allocation if business and price performance is favourable or confidence in growth increases
- Reduce/Exit/Stop-loss if scrip/financial performance is unsatisfactory
- Ride gainers as long as possible, and cut losers as soon as possible
- Adequate portfolio diversification ensured through allocation to approximately 25 scrips. And approximately 80% of allocation in maximum 20 scrips, to prevent over diversification

Losers add to Losers

Risk Management Strategy

- Parameters set in place to activate buying or trigger selling
- Position sizing based on overall market health, valuation changes & scrip performance. Scrip liquidity is a key determinant of allocation
- Rigorous monitoring of 'Equity Curve'
- Stop losses – both price wise and time wise
- Limit on quantum of loss on a single investment (loss trigger at 0.50% - 0.75% of corpus)

*It's not what you make;
but what you
keep, that counts*

Exit Strategy

- Deterioration in earnings growth
- Sharp upward movement in share price in a short span far ahead of fundamentals. Reversion to mean risk heightened
- Exit on companies that fail to deliver as per expectation
- Loss of secular relative strength of a stock
- Triggering of exits based on technicals viz. previous life high, upper end of channel, etc
- Trailing take profits
- Need to raise portfolio cash levels due to emerging poor 'macro' conditions

*Knowing how to take a loss
separates men
from boys*

Payout Policy

- We encourage clients to opt for a payout of profits (we have a policy to pay out approximately of 25% of realised profits every quarter)
- Distribution of profits is in the spirit of “Invest Well. Celebrate Life.”
- Will introduce discipline in us to realise gains at an appropriate time
- Help meet clients’ tax commitments in a timely manner

Life is like a burning candle

Right Human Attribute

- Discipline to stick to a defined strategy and process even during times when the going may not be good
- Humility to exit when wrong
- Attitude to analyse performance, identify mistakes and incorporate the learnings to improve our processes
- Just as we seek out businesses built on values with ethical promoters, we hold ourselves to the same standards

*Failure and loss create an emotional opening through which great learning
may occur*
